

Pages from a leaf collection created by a student enrolled in the Wildlife and Forestry management course.

Students practice various methods for estimating tree height in the Wildlife and Forestry Management course.